PROFESSOR CHIOVARO RWA – ALL SECTIONS

CONFERENCE INSTRUCTIONS

Reserve a time for your conference on the sign-up sheet posted on the 3rd floor RWA bulletin board. DO NOT sign up for a conference time that conflicts with another class – see me if the only remaining time slots conflict with one of your other classes. Once all students have signed-up for a conference I will post the schedule on my web page.

Deadlines: Your paper is due 2-3 days before your scheduled conference -- check below for your due date. Drafts are due at 10:00 a.m. for both day and night students. You should turn them in to the 4th floor receptionist, if present. Alternatively, you should deposit your paper in the RWA turn-in box. Although I will not read late papers, I will review any written work with you during your scheduled conference time even if you do not turn it in beforehand.

Format: All papers must comply with format requirements.

Severe and Pervasive: If you want me to review any revisions to the draft of the "severe and pervasive" issue you submitted and I reviewed, you must attach it to your paper and highlight on the revised section any changes you have made from the prior draft. I will not re-review the first draft of the "sever and pervasive" argument in papers that fail to comply with these requirements.

Where to pick up your papers: I will make your papers available for review no later than 30 minutes prior to your conference. Please pick them up on the 6th floor. They will be in a folder labeled with my name. Please review my comments prior to our conference and generate some questions on how to move forward.

My office is Room 648 on the 6th floor. Please call me at 1-4943 from the 6th floor telephone when it is time for your conference.
