LL.M.
Our LL.M. program gives legal professionals of all backgrounds the skills they need to expand their careers. Foreign trained lawyers develop an understanding of U.S. law preparing them to become members of the Georgia Bar and U.S.-trained lawyers deepen their expertise in specialty areas of the law.

Dean LaVonda N. Reed
GEORGIA STATE LAW
MASTER OF LAWS

Students in our LL.M. programs have the opportunity to dive deeper into a focus area by developing expertise in health law, environmental and land-use law, intellectual property, legal analytics or general legal studies, equipping them with the skills needed to advise clients in these rapidly changing areas.

The LL.M. program at Georgia State Law is open to graduates with a U.S. J.D. or foreign law degree (including J.D., LL.B., B.L., B.A. in Law and Society), and may be taken on a full-time or part-time basis.

The bar-preparation track allows foreign-trained lawyers to meet the requirements to sit for the bar exam.

BAR PREPARATION TRACK
(FOREIGN-TRAINED LAWYERS ONLY)

This prescribed 26-credit hour curriculum allows foreign-trained lawyers who are authorized to practice law in their home countries to sit for the Georgia Bar Exam,* and possibly become eligible to take the bar exam in other jurisdictions.

* Graduates must also meet fitness standards established by the Georgia Office of Bar Admissions.

CONCENTRATION TRACKS

Students may specialize in environmental & land use law, health law, intellectual property, legal analytics or general studies. All require 26 credit hours, with 17-20 credit hours of required or recommended courses, depending on the track. Students are encouraged to participate in an independent research project with a professor in the field of their concentration.

DUAL CONCENTRATIONS

Georgia State Law offers a unique opportunity for our LL.M. students to pursue a dual concentration, allowing our graduates to demonstrate mastery in two areas of law. Foreign-trained and U.S.-trained lawyers can earn a dual concentration LL.M. degree through completion of a 36 credit-hour course of study.

ABA CHARACTER AND FITNESS STATEMENT

Applicants are required to provide the ABA-accredited College of Law with information about their academic and personal background, including criminal history. Failure to answer any such questions fully and honestly may adversely affect one’s application or result in actions up to and including revocation of admission.

Every American jurisdiction in which you may practice law after graduation from law school requires each applicant for admission to the Bar to meet character and fitness requirements as a condition of eligibility for admission.

You are encouraged, as you go through the law school application process and before you enter law school, to determine the requirements of the jurisdiction(s) where you intend to practice law. If you are uncertain where you will practice law, you may wish to review the Standard NCBE Character and Fitness Application, titled Request for Preparation of a Character Report, of the National Conference of Bar Examiners, which is used by a number of jurisdictions’ bar admission authorities. Addresses for all relevant agencies are available at www.ncbex.org.

Complete information about Georgia’s character and fitness rules, as well as Bar exam and admission procedures, may be found at gabaradmissions.org. Students applying for admission in states other than Georgia are encouraged to review the specific admissions requirements of those states.
