Legal Intelligence Through Artificial Intelligence
Friday, April 5, 2019
Knowles Conference Center, Georgia State University College of Law

Agenda

8:00 a.m.  Breakfast and Registration

9:00 a.m.  Opening Remarks by Shawnna Hoffman, Global Cognitive Legal Co-Leader, Watson AI & Quantum Computing, IBM

9:30 a.m.  Kevin Ashley, Professor of Law, Pitt Law
Automatically Extracting Meaning from Legal Texts: Opportunities and Challenges

10:00 a.m.  Panel 1: Case Studies in Prediction
- Three panelists will present separate case studies on outcome prediction in patent prosecution, Chapter 11 Bankruptcy cases, and motions for summary judgement
- Moderator: TBD
- Speakers:
  - Tabrez Ebrahim, Associate Professor of Law, California Western School of Law
    - Automation & Predictive Analytics in Patent Prosecution: USPTO Implications & Policy
  - Warren Agin, Adjunct Professor, Boston College of Law & Senior Consultant, LexPredict
    - Predicting Chapter 11 Bankruptcy Case Outcomes Using the Federal Judicial Center IDB and Ensemble Artificial Intelligence
  - Amanda Farahany, Managing Partner, Barrett & Farahany, LLP
    - Motion for Summary Judgment Decisions

11:30 a.m.  Lunch and Keynote Address by Ed Walters, Adjunct Professor of Law, Georgetown Law & CEO, Fastcase
Evolution of Artificial Intelligence

1:00 p.m.  Panel 2: Delivery of Legal Services
- This panel will discuss the role of legal technology in the delivery of legal services
- Moderator: TBD
- Speakers:
  - Joe Tiano, Founder and CEO, Legal Decoder
    - Pricing and evaluating the economics of legal services
  - Michelle Hook Dewey, Legal Research Services Manager, Baker & Hostetler LLP
    - Implementing Legal Analytics in Practice
  - Patrick Flanagan, Research Analyst, Baker & Hostetler LLP
    - Implementing Legal Analytics in Practice
  - Alison Grounds, Managing Director, Troutman Sanders eMerge
    - Evaluating legal tech solutions
Legal Intelligence Through Artificial Intelligence
Friday, April 5, 2019
Knowles Conference Center, Georgia State University College of Law

2:30 p.m.  Panel 3: The Future of This Profession
- This panel will discuss the evolving relationship between the legal industry and artificial intelligence, specifically emphasizing how to teach lawyers how to maintain emotional intelligence in decision making, problem-solving, and counseling clients on how best to meet their desired goals and needs.
- Moderator: TBD
- Speakers:
  - Harry Surden, Associate Professor of Law, Colorado Law
    - What to Teach Law Students About Artificial Intelligence and Law
  - Alyson Carrel, Assistant Dean of Law and Technology, Northwestern Pritzker School of Law
    - Legal Intelligence Through Artificial Intelligence Requires Emotional Intelligence

4:00 p.m.  Closing Remarks and Reception